Released on streaming platforms September 26, 2024

Dense layers of entangled patterns, of ice and gravel and shards of melodies, of sonic structures formed by accumulated pressure, of rigid rhythmicities on ceaseless verge of crumbling, of past events tightly packed into fragile stone, fractured into grains and lullaby scraps, of perceptions and desires deposited and forsaken.

Selective Sedimentology is Nim's full-length debut album. Nim (Alex Berman) is based in Gothenburg, Sweden. His music has previously been released on Frozen Elephants Music, Bivouac Recordings and sudd. Alex Berman also works as an artist, researcher and writer.
